THE ALERT '51

Marilyn Nystrom, Editor
Jackie Erickson, Assistant Editor
Mary Linhares, Business Manager

Foreword

The school year 1950-1951 has been another milestone in the building program of Turlock High School.

During the year, we watched the Boys' Gymnasium grow from a skeletal structure to a modern, efficient building, one of the largest high school gymnasiums in the state. As we observed the busy hands of the carpenters skillfully finishing the structure, we thought of a parallel in our own lives: like the materials which went into the building, so we have been molded and shaped by competent hands during our high school years.

We dedicate this book to the SENIOR CLASS of 1951 in the hope that, regardless of the uncertainty of the future, they may find in its pages the cherished memories of many happy hours of work and fun at Turlock High School.

John H. Pitman
Principal

A Friendly Message . . .

The highest aim of education is to create young men and women who can see clearly, imagine vividly, think steadily and will nobly. The Faculty of Turlock High is hopeful that the result of our work is not selfish scholars nor scornful critics, but intelligent and faithful citizens who are determined to put their powers at the service of country and neighbors.

The direction of our lives, this way and that, follows the unseen influence of what we admire and love and believe in. I pray that you have the spiritual assets that will enable you to stand where you belong and be loyal to your faith.

Graduation is a promotion to the school of life—where facts are teachers, experiences are lessons, friends are guides, work is a master and love an interpreter. You will rise by knowledge and sympathy through gradual and secret promotions, into a fuller and finer life.

Two Times Two Equals??

Busy every Monday night as Photo Club adviser, LOYD MOORE was also kept active as teacher of freshman math, algebra, and vocational math . . . In addition to instructing algebra, geometry, and trigonometry, INA SMITH was also an energetic adviser of the California Scholarship Federation.

"57 Varieties"

CAROLYN HACKMAN, a newcomer this year, had a huge job as adviser of Alert and Clarion in addition to her English II classes . . . Teaching Latin, counseling, and acting as chairman of senior activities really kept LURA FLINT on her toes . . . "Breathe from your diaphragm!" was the favorite expression of the public speaking, psychology of living, and English instructor, BLANCHE MORELL . . . The synonym of Spanish was FANNIE NILAND, but some upper classmen will remember her as their English and French teacher, too . . . JEAN MEADOWS, instructor of English and drama, had her hands full with the All School Play, Christmas Pageant, noon plays, and assembly skits.

Who or Whom??

A teacher of freshman English, WESLEY WELLANDER was also the business adviser of the Alert . . . FLORENCE SANDSTROM taught English I and was the capable chairman of the usherette committee . . . The THS "literary genius," PERSHING OLSON, instructed English III and English IV classes, as did MARGUERITE ARENDS, who also taught a new class this year, vocational English.

"And in 1492 . . ."

VINCENT KEESEY was well known as instructor of both U. S. history and civics . . . Responsible for all the films shown at school, HELEN HOENTHAL also taught history and geography . . . Teaching social studies was just part of the work of ARCHIE LUNDGREN, study hall overseer . . . Seniors will remember FRANKLIN YOUNGBORG for his civics classes and supervision of senior activities . . . Active as adviser of the Junior-Senior Prom, SOPHIA DINSDALE also instructed classes in world history . . . The boys' tennis team, a class in U. S. history, and administrative duties kept GEORGE MARKS hopping.

Little Einsteins

A familiar figure around the campus of Turlock High was PAUL WILLIAMS who taught general science and biology . . . The Dean of Girls, "professor" of chemistry, and algebra teacher was GEORGIA McCULLAGH . . . Physiology, biology, and life science classes were instructed by MARIE HILL, who was also a sophomore counselor . . . RALPH SWANSON, formerly an industrial chemist, came to THS this year to teach physics and general science.

Music Maestros

ANITA GRAVES and JOHN WING prepared their instrumental groups and vocal ensembles to provide many enjoyable assemblies and rallies. An impressive musical setting for the Christmas Pageant was the work of Mrs. Graves. During the second semester her job was taken over by BYRON JONES who produced a choir concert worthy of praise. Mr. Wing also directed the brilliantly performed Band Concert. The main event of the year for the music directors was the colorful Spring Concert.

"Take a letter . . ."

Head of the Commercial Department was ESTHA RODKEY, who taught math and bookkeeping as well as her typing classes . . . MARY DIAS capably instructed first year typing classes and one period of office practice . . . Training students for secretarial and clerical work was INA JOHNSON, who had classes in shorthand, records, and secretarial English.

"Quiet, Please"

The library at THS has always been a place to be proud of. CAROL EVENSON, assistant and HARRIET LEE, librarian, worked hard making the library one of the most popular places in school.

Creative Craftsmen

Students of NANCY BUCKINGHAM's arts and crafts classes often decorated the show cases with their handiwork . . . From time to time suits, dresses, and other garments made by the sewing classes of CAROL HAWKINS and JUNE WHEELER were displayed in these show cases . . . CATHERINE CUSHMAN and her cooking students proved their culinary skill by serving at various library teas and the Senior Breakfast.

Jacks-of-all-trades

Stagecraft, electricity, and math were the specialties of LESTER JOHNSON . . . GEORGE ENDERLIN, well known to the boys, instructed them in general and metal shop . . . Skilled supervision of upperclassmen in auto shop was displayed by EDGAR GUTHREY . . . SATTLEY ROWLAND's classes in plastic, woodshop, and mechanical drawing decorated the show cases several times with their products.

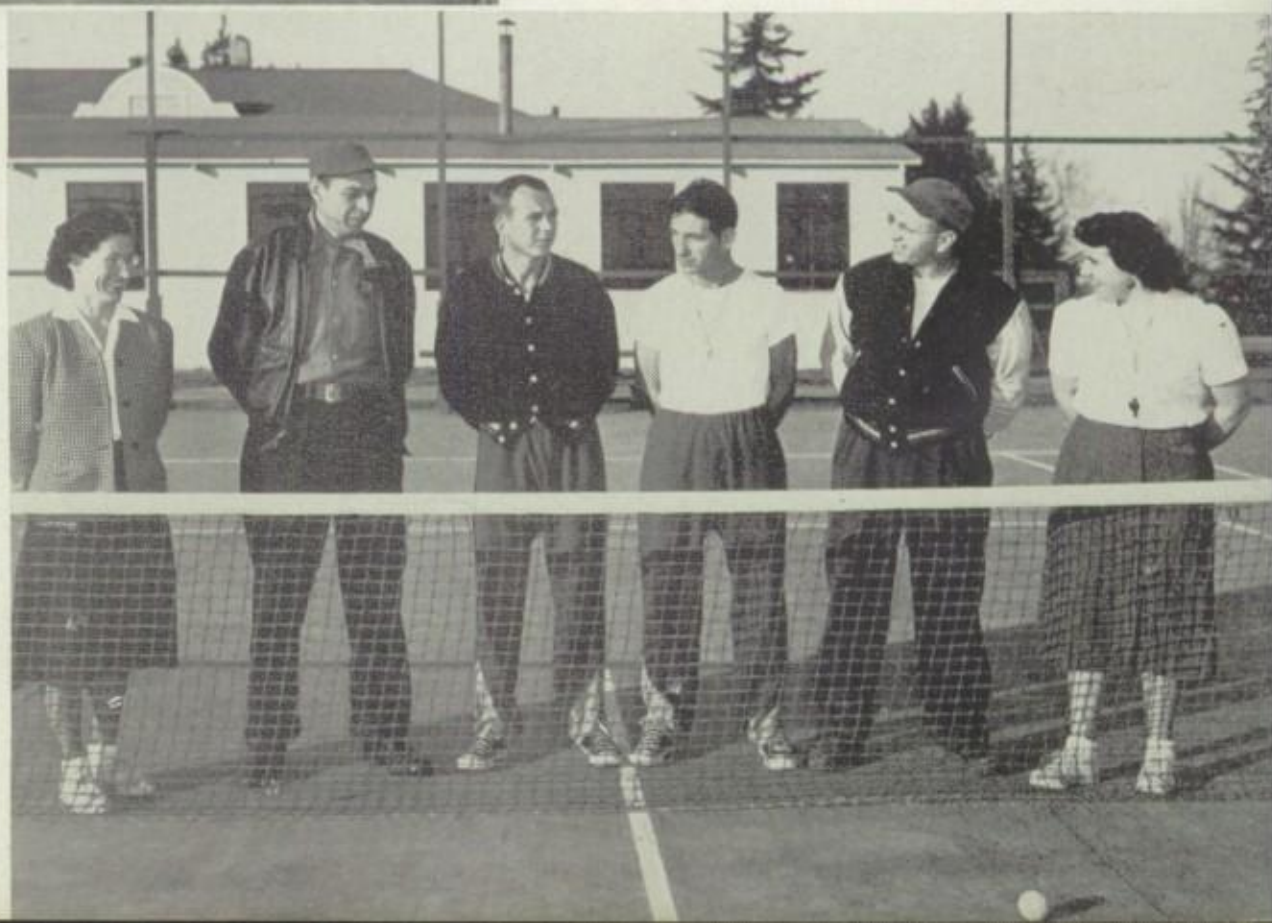

Country Gentlemen

Field trips taken by ag students to surrounding farms were supervised by "BUCK" CLAUSEN, ag science teacher . . . DONALD HALL, director of ag mechanics, also participated in these jaunts . . . The Ag Department was a busy place at night, too, when CARL BUNTING and THOMAS SAWYER taught their classes in Veterans' Agriculture.

The Outdoor Kids

Coaching the boys' physical education classes in sports was the main work of ARMAND SEGHETTI, CHARLIE COOKE, DAVE WEISE, and JOE DEBELY . . . RAE ZIMMER and MARILYN CASSTEVENS were in charge of the girls' classes. A new addition to their curriculum was First Aid in which the junior and senior girls received instruction.

Red Tape Crew

Everyone will admit that the office staff at THS was invaluable to both teachers and students. PHYLLIS WEJMAR, assistant secretary, LORRAINE JOHNSON, secretary, and DOROTHY LINDBERG, attendance secretary, worked steadily to keep school affairs humming along smoothly.

Sunflower Seed Sweepers

"Johnnies on the spot," the custodians did their best to make the students proud of their school. Wearing a pleasant smile for everyone, FRED HANNE, ART WARD, GEORGE BROWNING, JIM REED, and ART JOHNSON worked diligently keeping the inside and outside of the school neat and clean.

Safety First

Last but not least were the bus drivers who faithfully took the students to and from school every day and endured all the bedlam on trips to football and basketball games. MELVIN CLARK, SAM FERGUSON, H. C. BERLAU, WILBUR MARSHALL, REV. HILTON SCHLECHT, EDWIN CARSON, PAUL WAGGONER, EUGENE FIELD, and HENRY OLSON are to be commended for their patience and safety precautions.

FFA

Members of the Future Farmers of America are really preparing for the future by raising excellent stock to begin their own herds and farms. Their livestock were exhibited in a yearly showing at the Cow Palace in San Francisco. Ribbons and prize money were the boys' rewards for their hard work and perseverance.

Forensics

Establishment of a local chapter of the National Forensics League was the highlight of the year for the Forensics Club. Fifteen public speaking students with 20 points each became the charter members of chapter 93. Points were earned by competing in speech contests with other schools, speaking to PTA meetings and participating in the three assemblies given before the Student Body.

Oz

Eight drama enthusiasts of the Omega Zeta Society, popularly known as the Oz Club, became the charter members of a chapter of the National Thespian Society, newly established at THS. Contents of their treasury were donated to help buy costumes for the drama department which were used in the All School Play.

30 Club

In journalistic circles "30" means the end, and the end of the school year brought a successful conclusion to two publications produced by the members of this club. Besides working on the Alert and Clarion, they attended journalism conventions at Fresno and Berkeley, held parties, and visited engraving and printing houses.

One of the most active clubs in school, the California Scholarship Federation was host at the District 11 Convention at THS and attended two other district conferences at Tracy and Patterson, as well as the regional convention in Berkeley. These gatherings were enlivened by games, skits, music, and speeches. For the first time in three years the CSF'ers were privileged to hold their annual educational trip, a tour of Stanford University, on a school day.

Hands At Work On Your Alert

HAWOYA, the 1951 Alert campaign slogan, was an apt description of the class in yearbook production. New to their jobs, staff members successfully managed planning layouts, publicizing the book, selling ads, taking pictures, writing copy, balancing the budget, and planning for the Spring Supplement.

News Hounds Carry On Turlock's Clarion

Those mad Friday afternoon dashes might be a clue to the popularity of the THS weekly four page paper. Covering beats and striving to meet all the deadlines, members of the staff worked continuously to report top news. Special holiday editions were issued for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and April Fools' Day, and the Scholastic Roto, a national pictorial supplement, was distributed free every month.

Girls' Glee Clubs Give Program To Rotary

Beginning and Advanced Glee Clubs presented a group of Christmas Carol selections to the Rotary Club, at their weekly meeting last Thursday.

The Beginning Glee opened the program with "Jubilate Amen," following with "Shepherds Awake," "What Can This Man?" and "Falen-Tiding" were next, completing their part of the program with the familiar "Oh Holy Night."

SPEECH CONTEST BY LOCAL S

Two of the contests, sponsored by the Club and open to all, will be held on Friday.

The contests will be held on Friday, December 15, at the Turlock High School.

These contests are held to help promote public speaking in our schools.

Frank Switzer, '50 graduate, placed third in the California and Nevada finals of the Lion's Club contest last year. One of his prizes was a Royal portable typewriter, and he was also given expense-free trips to all of the contest finals which he entered, and made $25 in addition.

Chairman of the panel, Jim Richesin, will ask questions of the panel, and the discussion will be open to anyone in the audience with questions. A portion of this panel may be heard by all Turlock High School students and teachers over station KTUR Monday eve-

of Miss Jean Meadows, Mrs. Anita Graves, Miss Rae Zimmer and Miss Carilyn Castevens.

Miss Marguerite Arends, social committee chairman, and Mr. Pershing Olson, president of the teachers association, are in charge of the preparations and arrange-

To Be Topic Discussion

The topic of a panel discussion will be given by five Turlock students on Friday morning at the conference in Modesto.

Each of the panel will give a speech on different phases of the topic.

Donna Mayou will speak on how to be liked by other people, and be liked by other people. Hartt will speak on the manner of remembering when on a date. Cassel will tell of the preparation date; planning it and then carrying plan out, and Donna Mayou will discuss the problems of dating.

Chairman of the panel, Jim Richesin, will ask questions of the panel, and the discussion will be open to anyone in the audience with questions.

Campus Symphonette

Providing the music at rallies, football games, and other programs was just a part of the busy schedule of the band under the direction of John Wing. A trip to Fresno to see the Michigan band repeat a previous Rose Bowl performance may have been responsible in part for the later fine performances at such events as MJC Talent Day, All County Music Festival, and their own enthusiastically received Band Concert. The year's activities were climaxed as top honors were received at the Music Festival held in Berkeley. The band gave their last public performances at the annual Open House and Graduation.

Officers of the band were Lorraine Brown, president; Ronald von Rajcs, secretary; O. B. Parks, student body representative.

"Hail Alma Mater"

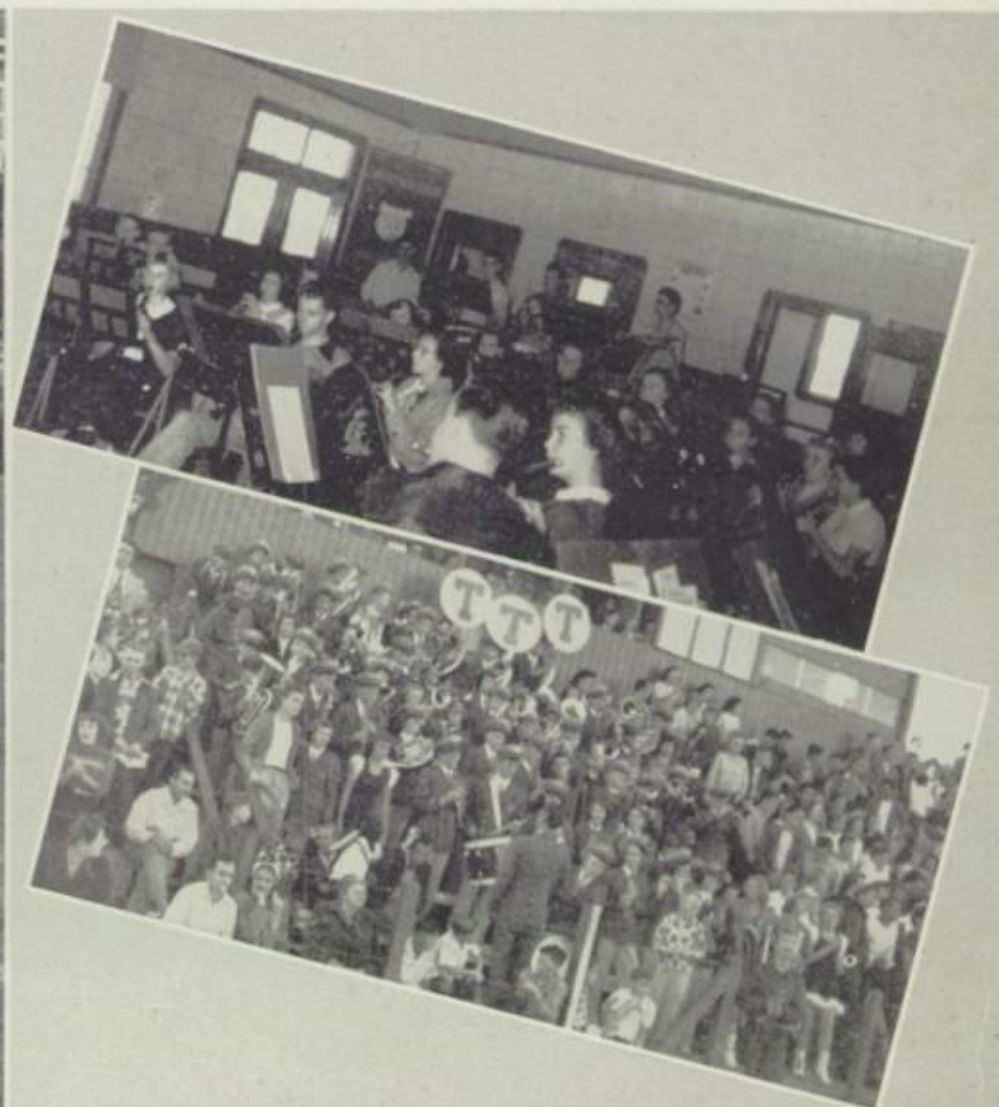

Directed by John Wing, the Senior Orchestra was kept very busy playing for many school activities. These included the Christmas Pageant, All School Play, Spring Concert, and Baccalaureate. Selected soloists also played at the MJC Talent show and the All County Band, Orchestra, and Chorus Festival. Members of the orchestra were honored to open an Armand Girard Talent Show held in the THS auditorium. The high point of the year for all was when several individual soloists traveled to Berkeley for the Annual Music Festival and were presented with top ratings.

Orchestra officers were Darlene Freeman, president; John Soares, vice-president; Monica Stage, secretary-treasurer.

Spirit Prompters

Throwing hands and hearts into boosting school spirit and enthusiasm, the Song and Yell Leaders kept the student body in fine voice at rallies and games. On-the-spot inspiration by members of the Rally Committee prompted many lively and laugh-provoking skits. Hidden talents were discovered in both faculty and students at the Talent Programs presented under the direction of the Assembly Committee. National Assemblies also provided varied entertainment in such popular programs as Talking Mynah Birds and National Transcribers for the Blind.

Although finishing the season in a tie for fifth, the Mighty Bulldogs, coached by Joe Debely and Armand Seghetti, came out ahead in statistics in all but one of their games. In the first game against Modesto they were handed a loss, but made a terrific comeback in the annual Turkey Day clash with a score of 19-0. No matter how rough the game or how far behind, the Bulldogs always dug in and played with the old team spirit.

Battling Bullpups Bag Blue Ribbon

The Bees went all the way for the Sac-Joaquin Conference title and an undefeated season. The team, coached by Dave Weise and Stanley Norton, allowed only one team to cross their goal line for six points. Helping to bring about an enviable record was the teamwork that was shown. The team worked together as a unit. No one person stood out, but through cooperation the team was outstanding.

Conquering Cees Capture Crown

The Cees, like the Bees, experienced an undefeated season. Playing against bigger and heavier teams, they established a record that will be hard to beat in the future. Coach Charlie Cooke not only taught them the high points in football, but embedded team spirit in them that steadily increased as the season progressed. A game to be remembered was the one against Modesto when the score stood 6-6 until the last play. Homer Pantazopulos passed to Fred Beatty for a touchdown just as the gun sounded.

"Now, what do I do?"

The Midget squad brought their season to an end with a .500 average. Although the Cees played only two games, it must be said that they practiced hard. Coached by Charlie Cooke, they faithfully turned out for early morning workouts, valuable practice for next year.

Up and . . . in?
